Vocations Week Special Collection

There will be a special collection this weekend in support of Vocations week. We ask you to keep all our religious who currently studying to take up their vocations in your prayers. Thank you for your support.

Dear Sister and Brothers,

The first reading is taken from the 1 Kings 19:9-13. After the rule of King Solomon, the northern tribes broke away from Judah, and formed an independent country which was called Israel. Separated from the temple and the priestly caste (the tribe of Levi which remained with Judah and Benjamin), they gradually lost their knowledge and belief in God. During the reign of King Ahab (869-850), idolatry became rampant in Israel. Ahab had married a pagan called Jezebel. She set up a temple to Baal in Samaria and had 400 pagan priests daily at her table. She banished all the prophets from the country, for Elijah remained to preserve the true faith. After his victory over the priests of Baal on Mount Carmel and his execution of 400 of them Elijah, decided it was safer to leave Israel to escape the wrath of Jezebel. He was heading for Mount Sinai, evidently in the hope of meeting the Lord where Moses had seen him, when the incident narrated in today’s reading occurred.

This weekend gospel narrates two miracles; Jesus walking on the water and calming a storm. The faith and trust of St. Peter in Christ is greater than that of the other Apostles, but it is as yet not complete and unquestioning. Christ had spent the day somewhere on the eastern shore of Lake Genesareth. As evening came, he told the disciples to return home by boat to the western shore. He himself spent most of the night alone in prayer. The disciples ran into a heavy head-wind and were hardly making any headway. They still hadn’t reached the western shore at 3.00 am. Suddenly Jesus came near them, walking on the water. The disciples were terrified; they thought he was a ghost. Jesus told them not to be afraid, that it was he, their Master, who was there.

Peter was ready to believe him, but put him to the test. If he really was the Master, he could give them the power to walk on the water. Christ gave him the power and while his faith in Christ lasted, he walked on the water. But his faith weakened when he saw a large wave approaching, and he then began to sink. He called out to his master; “Lord save me.” Christ caught him and lifted him up, remarking that it was the wavering of his faith that caused him to sink. As Christians, we learn the mercy of God in Jesus. God does not wish the death of the sinner, but that one should be converted and live. God gives us the grace and lets his sun shine on all of us. He has infinite patience and is ready, up to the last moment, to lead us to the life everlasting. Let us have faith and trust in Jesus, who is our loving God.

Many Blessings,

We know her saying ‘Never see a need without doing something about it’. We pray this week that many young people in our communities may embrace this spirit in response to the call of the Lord to serve as priests or consecrated religious.
